W: Good morning, students. This is Ms. Brown, the vice principal. For the upcoming school club festival, I know many clubs are busy planning various club activities and making posters. I'd like to remind you of an important rule for posting. Please put up club posters on the designated bulletin boards. Recently, some posters have been put on classroom doors, windows, and hallway walls. This makes the school look messy, and important notices can be harder to find. Before putting up a club poster, please make sure you are using the bulletin boards that we prepared. Again, club posters should be placed on the designated bulletin boards. Thank you for keeping our school clean and organized.

대화를 듣고, 남자의 의견으로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

W: Dad, can you check my travel schedule? Since this is my first trip abroad, I want to prepare everything well.

M: Sure. [Pause] Hmm, you have lots of activities for each day.

W: I want to experience as many things as I can.

M: But you should leave some time between activities when planning your trip.

W: Really? I thought doing many things would make the trip more meaningful.

M: I understand, but there could be some unexpected situations such as a transportation delay. So you need time to deal with those.

W: Oh, I didn't consider that.

M: Also, having more time allows you to fully enjoy each activity without feeling rushed.

W: That makes sense. I won't need to constantly check the clock to stay on schedule.

M: Right. So you need to schedule some time between activities.

W: I see. I should adjust my plan. Thanks, Dad.

M: Hello, listeners. This is Coach Daniel from Daily Fitness. When learning a new exercise, people often focus too much on speed or repetitions. However, the most important thing at the beginning is learning proper form. If you practice the incorrect form of a movement, your body may get used to moving that way. Then, even after you learn the correct form, it can take time to change that habit. Incorrect form can also put unnecessary stress on your body and increase the risk of injury. For these reasons, beginners should focus on correct form before trying to move faster or do more repetitions. Learning proper form early helps you exercise more safely and effectively.

M: Hey, Lisa. How was your weekend?

W: It was great. I visited my grandparents in the countryside. Look at this picture.

M: Their yard looks so beautiful. I see a bench in front of the house.

W: That's where my grandparents like to sit and talk.

M: That sounds relaxing. The swing hanging from the tree looks special.

W: It is. My grandfather made it for me when I was little.

M: That's so sweet. Is that your grandmother watering the flowers?

W: Yes. She takes care of them everyday. Oh, do you remember the striped tablecloth on the table?

M: Definitely. Didn't we pick it out at the local market?

W: That's right. I gave it to my grandmother, and she likes using it.

M: I'm glad she likes it. There are two chickens in the yard, too.

W: Yes. My grandparents raise them to get fresh eggs.

M: Sounds like you had a peaceful weekend.

W: Ethan, the travel writer's book talk starts soon. Let's check everything before people arrive.

M: Sure. We have enough chairs for everyone who signed up, and I even prepared a few extra chairs.

W: Great. I also set up a table for the book signing at the front of the event area.

M: That's a good spot. People can take pictures with the writer there, too.

W: Right. Did you check the microphone?

M: Yes. I tested it, and there's no problem with the sound.

W: What about the question cards for the Q&A time?

M: They're ready. I placed one on each seat so people can write down their questions.

W: Then we're done.

M: Wait, didn't the writer say she wanted to show some photos?

W: Oh, you're right. I'll connect the laptop to the screen now.

M: Thanks. After that, everything will be ready.

W: Then how about these spoon and chopstick sets? We have wooden and stainless steel sets.

M: How much is each set?

W: The wooden set is $15, and the stainless steel one is $20.

M: I like the stainless steel set. I'll take two, please.

W: Sure. Anything else?

M: My friends also like reading. Do you have any bookmarks?

W: Yes. These are made of traditional Korean paper and are popular as souvenirs. They're $5 each.

M: They look nice. I'll take two, please.

W: Okay. So, two stainless steel spoon and chopstick sets and two bookmarks, correct?

M: That's right. I also have a discount coupon. Can I use it?

W: Sure. You'll get 10% off the total.

M: Great. Here's my credit card.

M: Emily, how was the running event last weekend?

W: It was great. I twisted my ankle a little, but it's fine now.

M: That's a relief. You seem to be enjoying running these days.

W: Yes. I'm already looking for another event to join.

M: Then you might like this. There's the Forest Trail Run in Maple Woods next Saturday.

W: Maple Woods? That's not far from my house. What time does it start?

M: At 10 a.m. It begins at the entrance of Maple Woods.

W: Oh, I can't make it then.

M: Is it because of your swimming lessons? I thought you have them on Saturday mornings.

W: Not anymore. They're during the evenings on the weekdays now.

M: Then do you have something else at that time?

W: Yes. I have an online meeting for my team project. I can't miss it.

M: I see. Maybe next time.

W: Honey, look! I found a tour we could take during our trip next month.

M: A Desert Night Sky Tour? That sounds interesting. What can we do on the tour?

W: We can see bright stars through the telescopes and take pictures with the beautiful night sky in the desert.

M: That sounds fantastic. But how long is the tour?

W: About 4 hours. It starts at 6 p.m.

M: Then we can eat dinner earlier before the tour starts. Is there anything we need to bring?

W: Just a warm jacket. Telescopes and blankets are provided by the tour company.

M: Good. I heard it does get pretty cold at night in the desert.

W: Right. Oh, look. The tour costs $50 per person.

M: That's reasonable. It also says warm tea and light snacks are included in the cost.

W: That makes it even better.

M: Then let's book it now.

M: Hey, Amy. I'm looking for a shower curtain for my new house. Could you help me choose one?

W: Sure. What's your budget?

M: I don't want to spend more than $25. I already spent too much on moving.

W: That makes sense. Which pattern do you prefer?

M: I don't want a floral one. It wouldn't match my bathroom.

W: Okay. Next is the length of the curtain.

M: Since my shower isn't very tall, I don't need the extra-long one.

W: All right. Now you're down to two options. One is machine-washable, and the other is not.

M: Which one would you choose?

W: I'd choose the machine-washable one. It's easy to maintain at home and you don't have to replace it often.

M: Good point. I'll order that one.

W: Sure. I'm glad you signed up. What do you need to know?

M: Well, I bought a new racket, but I'm not sure about the shoes. Can I just wear my everyday shoes?

W: Hmm, you shouldn't wear outdoor shoes on the indoor court.

M: Really? Is that going to be a problem?

W: Yes. Outdoor shoes can bring dirt or dust onto the court, which could make the court slippery.

M: Oh, that could be dangerous during practice.

W: You're right. Don't you have a pair of indoor shoes?

M: Yes. I have the one I only use at the fitness center.

W: Then you should bring those.

M: Anna and Ryan are a married couple who are moving to a new apartment next month. While packing, they set aside several boxes of household items they haven't used for years. Ryan wants to throw them away to reduce the number of boxes before moving day. However, Anna notices that many of the items are still clean and usable. She remembers that the community center is collecting household items this weekend for local families who need them. Anna thinks donating those items would be better than throwing them away. So, Anna wants to suggest to Ryan that they take the items in good condition to the community center. In this situation, what would Anna most likely say to Ryan?

W: Hello, students. It's good to see you again. Last time, we looked at traditional houses in different countries. Today, I'd like to introduce structures that have remarkable records. First, the Great Wall of China is the longest defensive structure in the world. It stretches for thousands of kilometers across mountains and deserts. Second, the Eiffel Tower in Paris is the most visited monument in the world that people pay to enter. Many people buy a ticket to go up and enjoy the city view from the tower. Next, Sagrada Familia in Barcelona is famous for having the longest construction period. Construction began in 1882 and continued for more than a century. Lastly, Angkor Wat in Cambodia is the largest religious structure in the world. Visitors often need several hours to look around it. These structures were built for different purposes, but each stands out for its own impressive record. Now, let's watch a short video about these structures.
